David A. Gomez Appointed Director of Capital Improvement Projects

— With over 30 years of experience in the construction space —

Miami Beach, FL – Long-time public servant David A. Gomez has been appointed Director of the Miami Beach Office of Capital Improvement Projects (CIP). Mr. Gomez succeeds David Martinez, who was promoted to the position of Assistant City Manager in November.

“David Gomez has a proven track record of overseeing complex capital improvement projects from concept to completion,” shared Miami Beach City Manager Eric T. Carpenter in announcing the appointment. “With 30 years of experience in architecture, construction management and capital improvement projects, David will be responsible for overseeing large-scale public and private sector construction projects involving the City of Miami Beach.”

Prior to joining the city in 2015 as a senior capital project coordinator, Gomez held various leadership positions in the private sector, including project manager at Recreational Design and Construction, where he oversaw the development of sports complexes, recreational facilities and environmental projects. He also served as a project architect at PBS & J and Zyscovich, Inc. where he contributed to significant aviation and government projects, including at Miami International Airport and Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport. In addition to his professional experience, Gomez also is a LEED Accredited Professional through the U.S. Green Building Council.

“I am honored to be entrusted with the leadership of such a talented group of professionals, and look forward to working with the community, the administration and the elected officials to further improve our great city,” said Gomez, who had been serving as interim director of the Office of Capital Improvement Projects since April and as a CIP division director since 2018.

Gomez, who holds a bachelor’s degree in architecture and history from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, has played key roles in various Miami Beach projects, including North Beach Oceanside Park, the Beachwalk, Collins Park Garage and Pride Park.
